Ans No, I don't agree with Kushal's behaviour, spending all his savings at once, even on discounts is risky. It shows lack of balance and may lead to financial trouble. Instead, he should save some money for emergencies or future needs, rather than using all at once. Ultimately failed in the test.

4) How did Saurabh manage to save money he got every month?

Ans Saurabh first estimated the money he needed to buy the kit and sweets. Then he divided by 6 so that he could know exactly how much he needed to save every month. This is how he managed to get the essentials he needed with the money and save the rest, hence setting an example for all.

5) Saurabh bought things all the things he needed not the ones he wanted. What's the difference between the two?

Ans The difference between need and wants is important. Needs are essential for survival like food, shelter and clothing.
